Question 1: I would like to know about restaurants in your country.
What do typical restaurants look like?
What kinds of food do they commonly offer?

Answer:
In Vietnam, restaurants are simple and friendly. Some are on the street with small seats. They serve tasty dishes like pho, banh mi, spring rolls, and different noodles. The food is fresh, flavorful, and has herbs. Whether in a busy city or a quiet town, Vietnamese restaurants have lots of yummy choices.

Question 2: Tell me about a restaurant you ate recently.
What kind of restaurant was it? What was their menu and what did you eat?
Who were you with?
Did you like how the food tasted?

Answer:
I went to a small restaurant 898 with friends. They had tasty dishes like pho and spring rolls. I tried different things, and everything was delicious. It was a fun time with good food and friends.

Question 3: Talk about the last time you used a take-out or a delivery food service.
Where was it and what did you get?
What do you remember about that experience?

Answer:
The last time I ordered food for delivery was from a nearby Chinese restaurant. I got chicken fried rice. I remember it was raining that day, and I didn't want to go out. The delivery arrived quite fast, and the food was still warm. It made for a cozy and convenient dinner at home.

Question 4: Talk about a time when you prepared for a special occasion using a take-out or a delivery service.
What kinds of food did you get from the restaurant?
Tell me about that experience with lots of details.

Answer:
One time, for a special day, I ordered pizza and wings for delivery. The delivery guy came fast, and the food smelled really good. The pizza was cheesy, and the wings were spicy. It made the special day even better, having tasty food without going anywhere.

Good luck For Your Exam!
