Question 1: What do people normally do on the internet?
Do they play games, watch television, or watch movies?
Talk about all the things people do online.

Answer:
On the internet, people do a lot of things. Some play games, watch shows or movies, and connect with friends on social media. Many use it for learning, reading news, and exploring different topics. Shopping and doing business online are also common. The internet is like a big space where everyone can find something they like or need.

Question 2: What do you usually do on the internet?
Do you like to shop online?
Do you like sharing videos with other people?
Tell me about everything that you do online.

Answer:
I use the internet for different things. I shop for things I need, like clothes and gadgets. I also share videos and photos with my friends on social media. Sometimes, I play games online or watch funny videos to relax. I also read articles and watch tutorials to learn new things. The internet is a place where I can do a lot of different activities.

Question 3: Tell me about your early experience of surfing the internet. What do you remember particularly about that experience?

Answer:
When I first used the internet, it was fun. I heard the dial-up sound, waited for the connection, and explored websites. I played simple online games and chatted with friends. It felt like a new world with lots to discover. The internet has changed a lot, but those early experiences were full of curiosity and fun.

Question 4: I’m sure you have things that you remember seeing on the internet.
Talk about a memorable posting that you saw on the internet.
Why was it memorable for you?

Answer:
I remember this funny cat video I saw on the internet. The cat was trying to jump on a shelf but kept missing. It made me laugh so hard. I shared it with my friends, and we all enjoyed it.
