Question 1: I’d like to give you a situation and ask you to act it out.
You would like to find a house to live in.
Call a management office and ask three or four questions about getting a house to live in.

Answer:
Hello, I'm looking for a place to live, and I saw your ad. I have a few questions. Firstly, how much is the rent for a one-bedroom apartment? Also, do you need a security deposit, and if yes, how much is that? Another thing, are pets allowed in the building? And finally, what's the process for applying? Thanks so much!

Question 2: I’m sorry, but there is a problem that I need you to resolve. You have moved in to the new house but found out that one of the windows is broken.
Call the repair shop, explain the situation, and why you have to get a new window as soon as possible.

Answer:
Hello, I just moved into a new house, and I need your help. There's a problem – one of the windows is broken. It's making the house less safe, and it's getting really cold inside. Can we get a new window quickly? I'd really appreciate it. Thanks a lot.

Question 3: That’s the end of the situation.
Tell me about a time when you broke something at home.
What exactly happened and how did you solve the problem?
Give me all the details from beginning to end.

Answer:
Oops! I broke a glass vase at home. It was on the table, and I accidentally hit it with my elbow. Glass pieces went everywhere. I checked myself for cuts, and luckily, I was okay. Then, I used a broom to clean up the mess. I told my family what happened and said sorry. We cleaned it up together, and I learned to be more careful.

Good luck For Your Exam!
