Question 1: I’d like to give you a situation and ask you to act it out.
There is a newly opened store in your neighborhood.
Call your friend who knows about the new store and ask some questions about the store to get some information.

Answer:
Hey, how's it going? Have you been to that new store that just opened in our neighborhood? I'm curious about it. What kind of stuff do they sell? Is it worth checking out? Also, do they have any good deals or discounts? Let me know what you think. Thanks!

Question 2: I’m sorry, but there is a problem that I need you to resolve.
You left your wallet behind at the store.
Call the store and explain the situation.
Give two to three alternatives to solve the problem.

Answer:
Hello, I hope you can help me. I was at your store earlier and, unfortunately, I left my wallet behind. Is there a lost and found or a place where lost items are kept? If not, could you please check with your staff if they found a wallet? Alternatively, could you let me know if there's a contact number for the security or management? I really appreciate your assistance. Thank you!

Question 3: That’s the end of the situation.
Have you ever left something behind at a restaurant or at a store?
It could have been your wallet, your cell phone or something else that was important.
Give me all the details of that incident.

Answer:
Oh, it happened to me once. I left my phone at a coffee shop. I felt so worried when I realized it was missing. I quickly went back to the cafe, and thankfully, they had found it and kept it safe for me at the counter. I was really relieved and grateful to the staff for being so honest and helpful. It taught me to be more careful and check for my belongings before leaving a place
